Whether you're a local or tourist, we always feature our favorite spots along with all the new and exciting things our city has to offer.

The Oscars, also known as the Academy Awards, are one of the most prestigious events in the entertainment industry. This year, we recognize LGBTQ+ nominees, storylines, and winners.

GLAM was a huge success! Check out the red carpet photos this week, and save the date for April 9th when GLAM returns to Ghostbar.

Don't forget your green! Friday is St. Patrick's Day. The Eagle will have corned beef and cabbage along with Irish Coffee, Jameson shots, and Gamblers Bonus prizes. Coop's Cabaret will be celebrating with Killian's Angels and an Irish Buffet!

Russ White & Garrett Pattiani
Publishers, QVegas & QLife Media

Every week we spend a lot of time putting together the QVegas Guide to Las Vegas. It's a labor of love trying to find all the events, businesses and activities that we think the LGBTQ+ community would like.

We rely on advertisers to keep this a free resource. If you want to promote your event, business, or activity, contact us today!

What We're Watching

Oscar® Nominations, Storylines, and Winners

The Oscars, also known as the Academy Awards, are one of the most prestigious events in the entertainment industry. Each year, actors, directors, and other industry professionals gather to celebrate the best films of the year.

Over the years, the Oscars have recognized many LGBTQ+ individuals for their work in the film industry. This year, we recognize LGBTQ+ nominees, storylines and winners.

Over the past few years, the Oscars have made significant strides in recognizing and celebrating LGBTQ+ voices in the film industry. In 2019, the film "Green Book" won Best Picture, which tells the story of a gay man's journey through the deep south in the 1960s. The film "Call Me By Your Name" was also recognized for its portrayal of a romantic relationship between two men.

However, there is still much work to be done to ensure that LGBTQ+ voices are heard and represented on the biggest stage in the film industry. One of the ways in which we can expect to see greater representation is through increased diversity among nominees and winners. This means not only recognizing LGBTQ+ individuals for their work in front of and behind the camera, but also amplifying voices of LGBTQ+ people of color and those from underrepresented communities. It's important to continue to support LGBTQ+ filmmakers and creators in telling their own stories, rather than relying on straight or cisgender filmmakers to tell them for them. This means providing greater funding and resources for LGBTQ+ filmmakers and creating more opportunities for them to share their work with a wider audience.

This year, Everything Everywhere

All At Once swept the awards. The film tells the story of a Chinese-American woman named Daphne (played by Michelle Yeoh) who is forced to confront different versions of herself across parallel universes when an ancient cosmic force threatens to destroy all of existence.

From an LGBTQ+ perspective, the movie has received praise for its representation of queer characters and themes. In the film, Daphne's daughter, played by Stephanie Hsu, is in a same-sex relationship with her girlfriend, played by Jade Wu. The relationship is portrayed as loving and supportive, with the couple shown kissing and expressing affection for each other on multiple occasions throughout the film.

In addition, the film features a prominent trans character, played by Jamie Clayton, who is part of a group of rebels fighting against the cosmic force threatening existence.

In The Whale, Brendan Frazer plays a 600-pound gay man. The film addresses issues of body shaming, homophobia, and discrimination, and touches on the challenges faced by LGBTQ individuals in religious communities.
